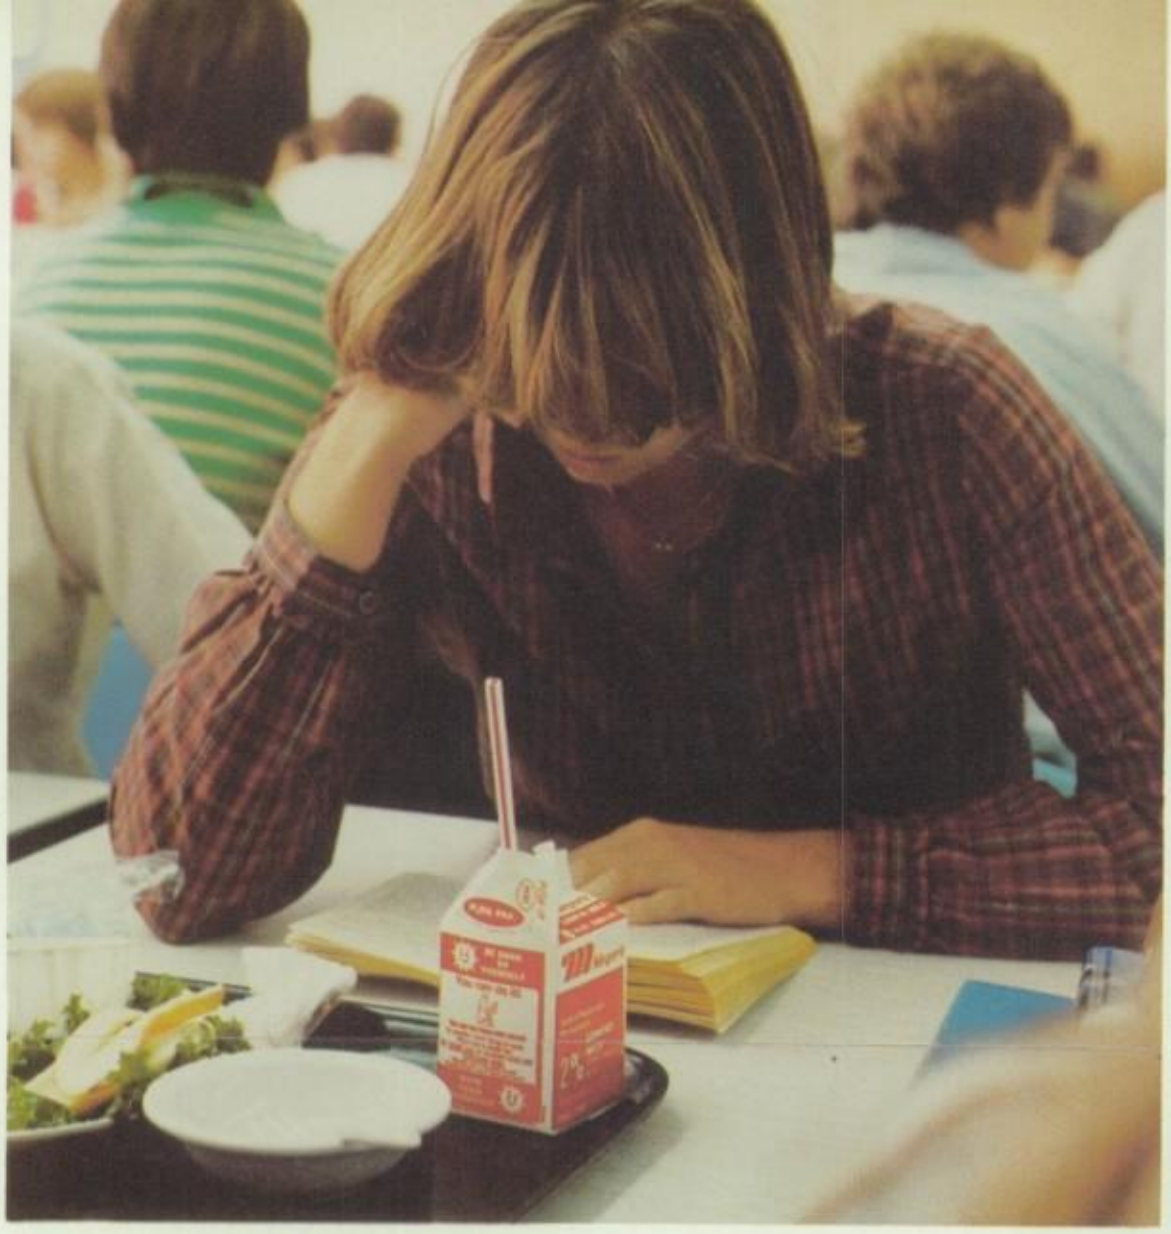
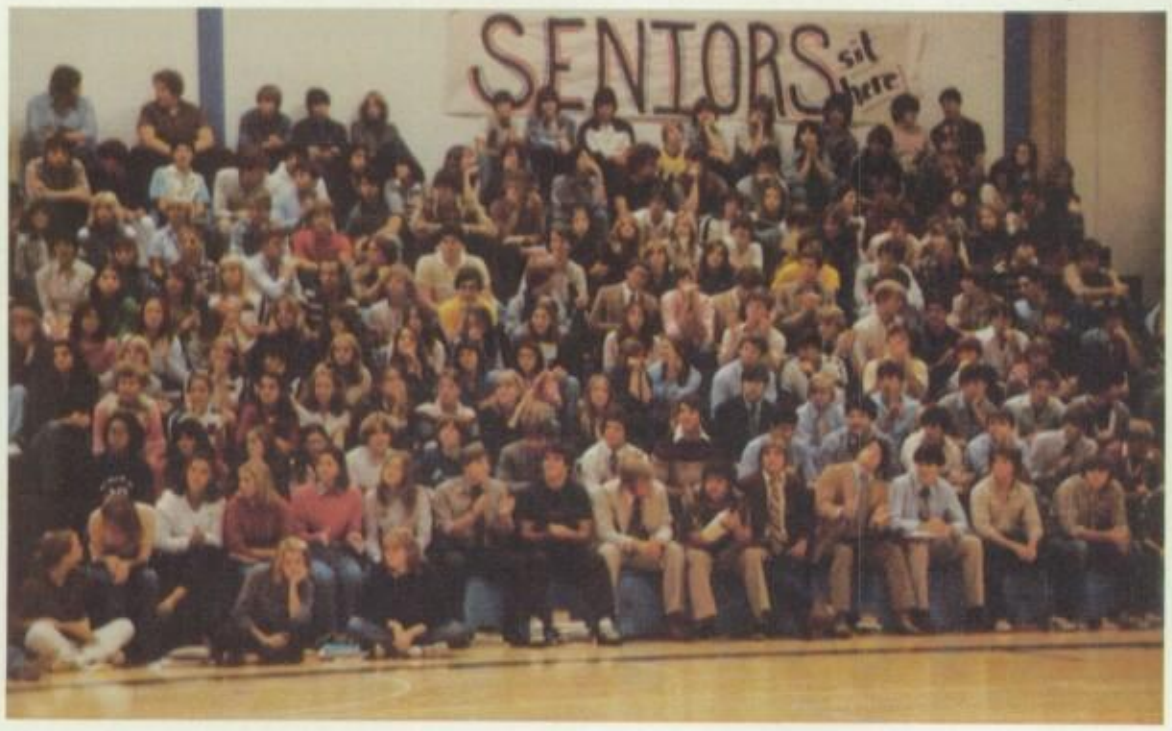
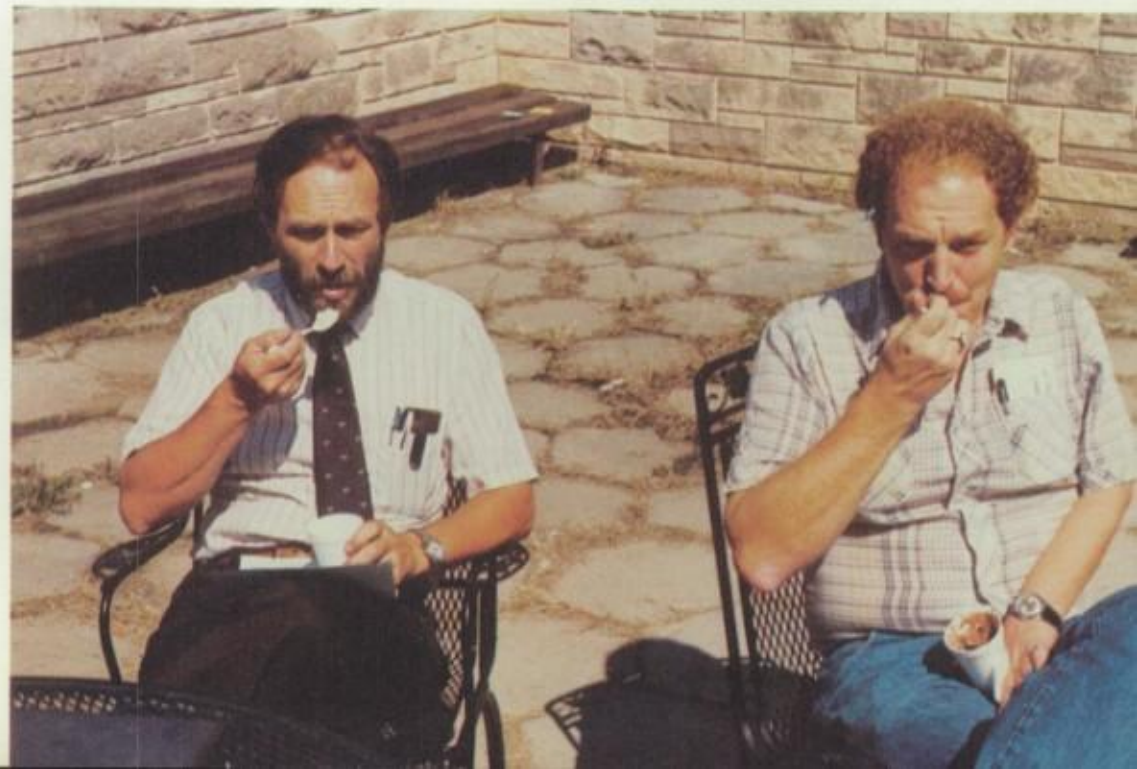
Time is of the essence . . .
Come alive with the day;
Reaching to the limit to be the best we can be.
Each of us composing a unique and moving melody.





SENIORS sit here



Time out
From the routine.
We grow through
Our encounters;

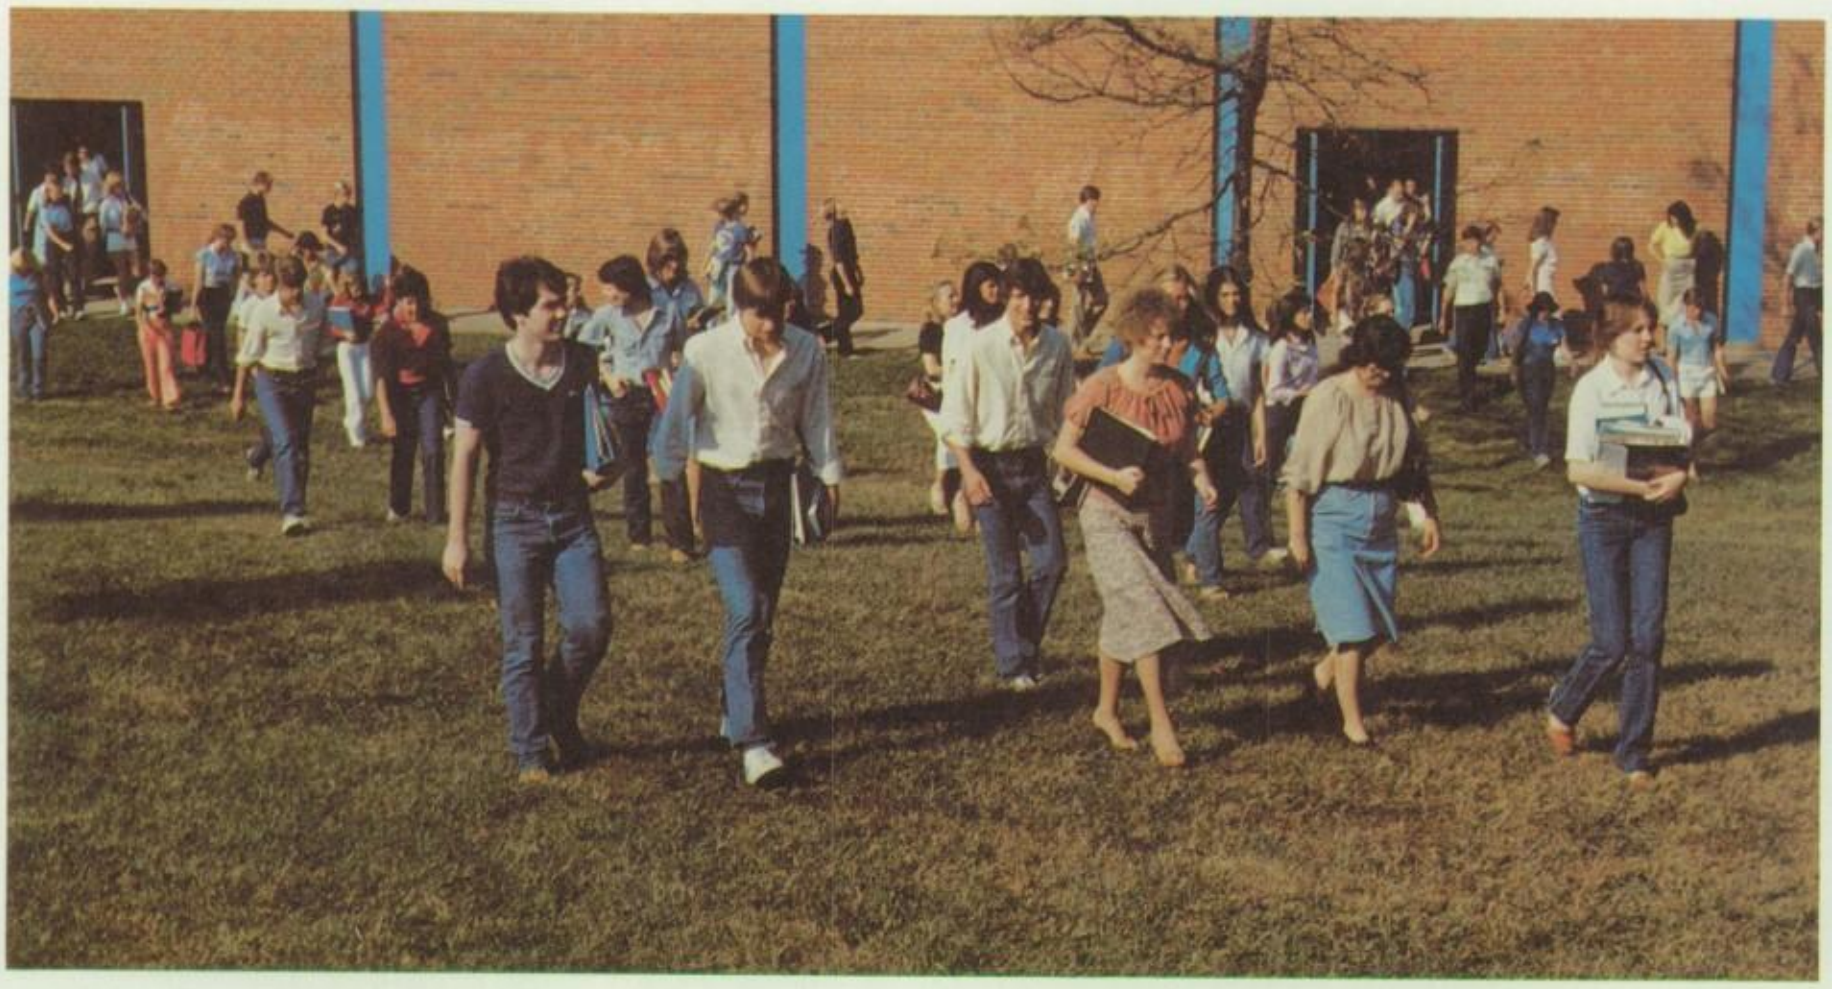
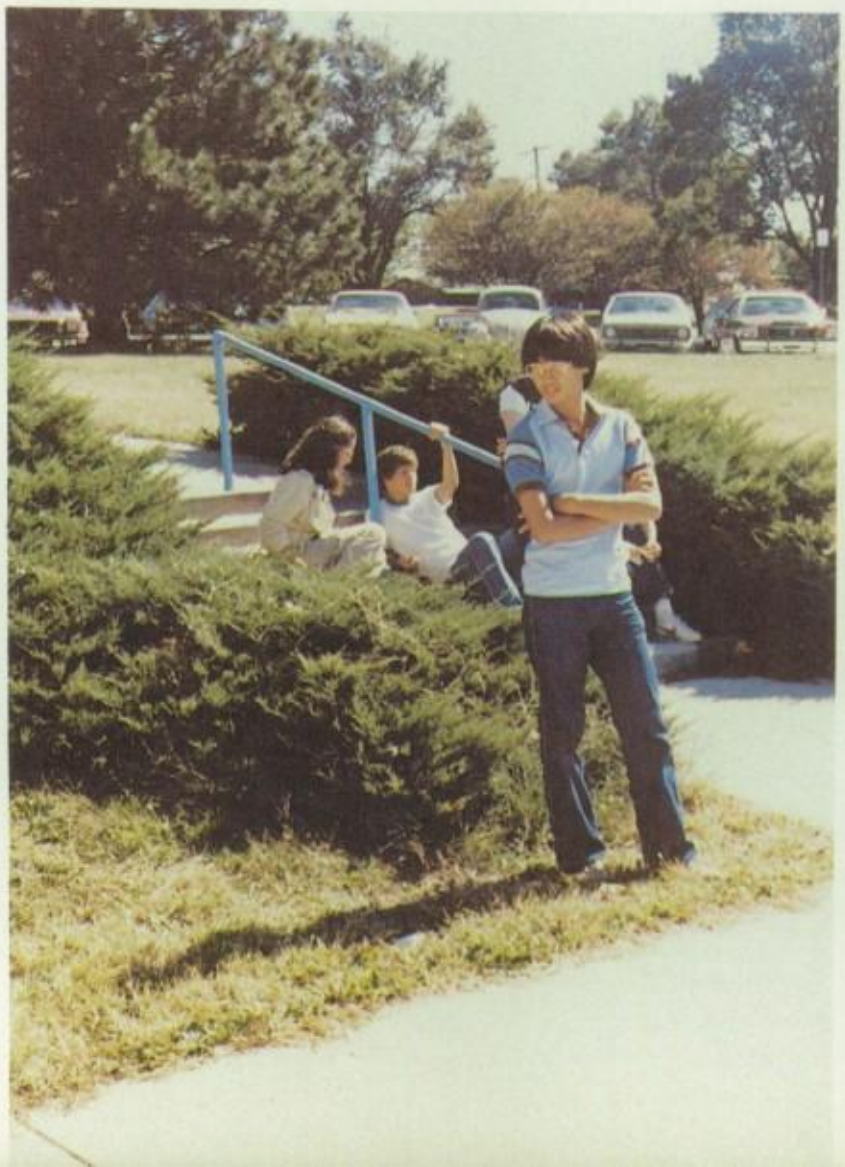
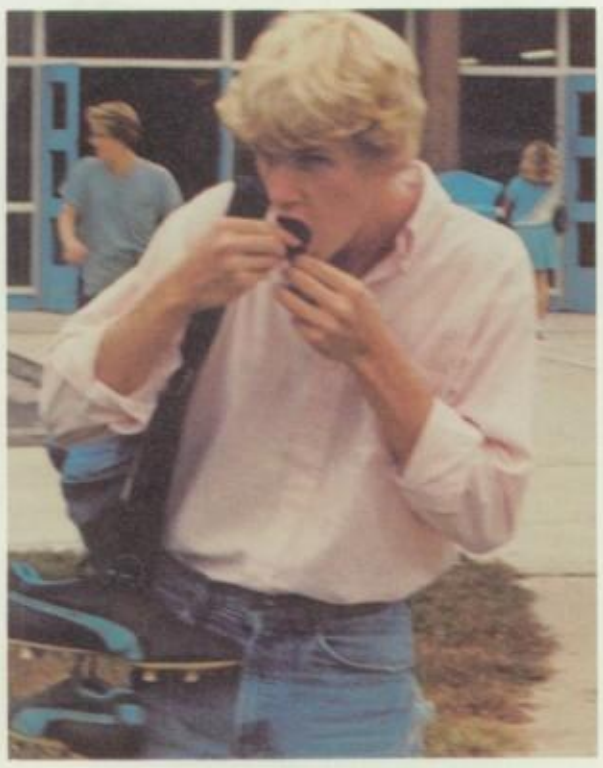
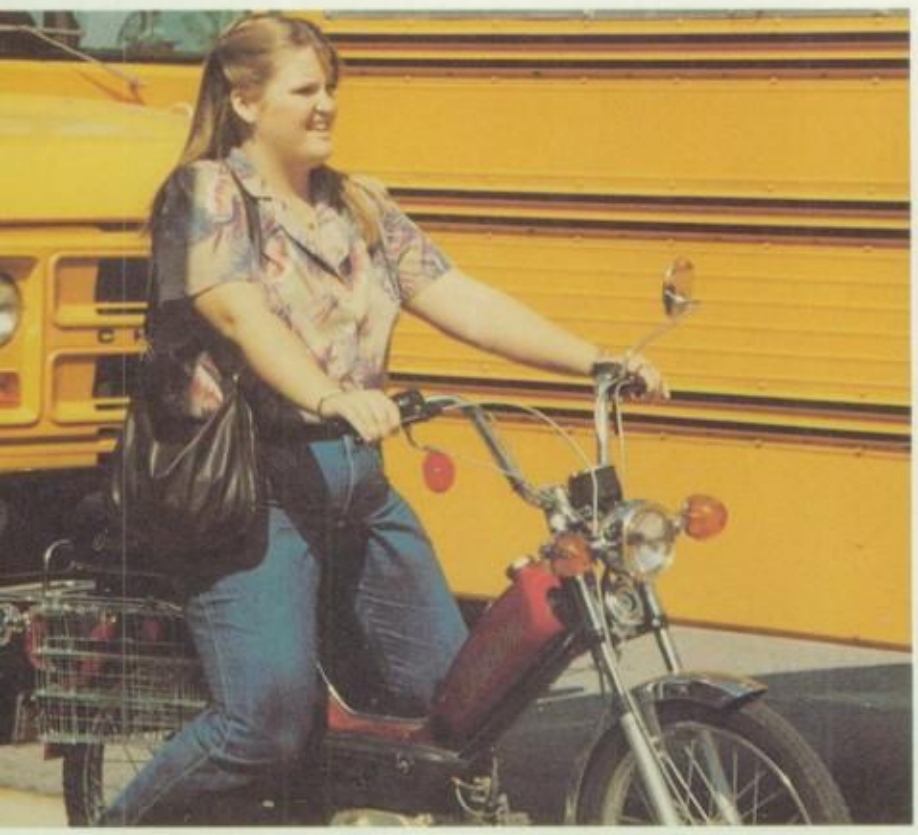
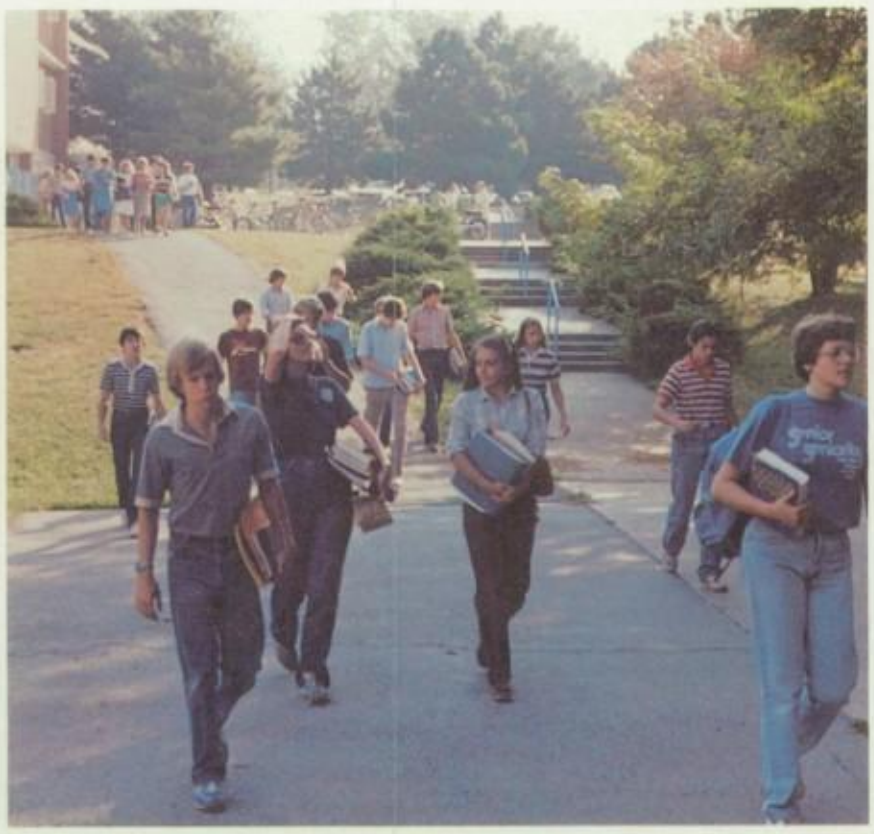
Time for us.
Free to choose what we want to do.
We experience challenges
Which enhance and color our lives.
Being the way we are;
Sharing the moments with others.

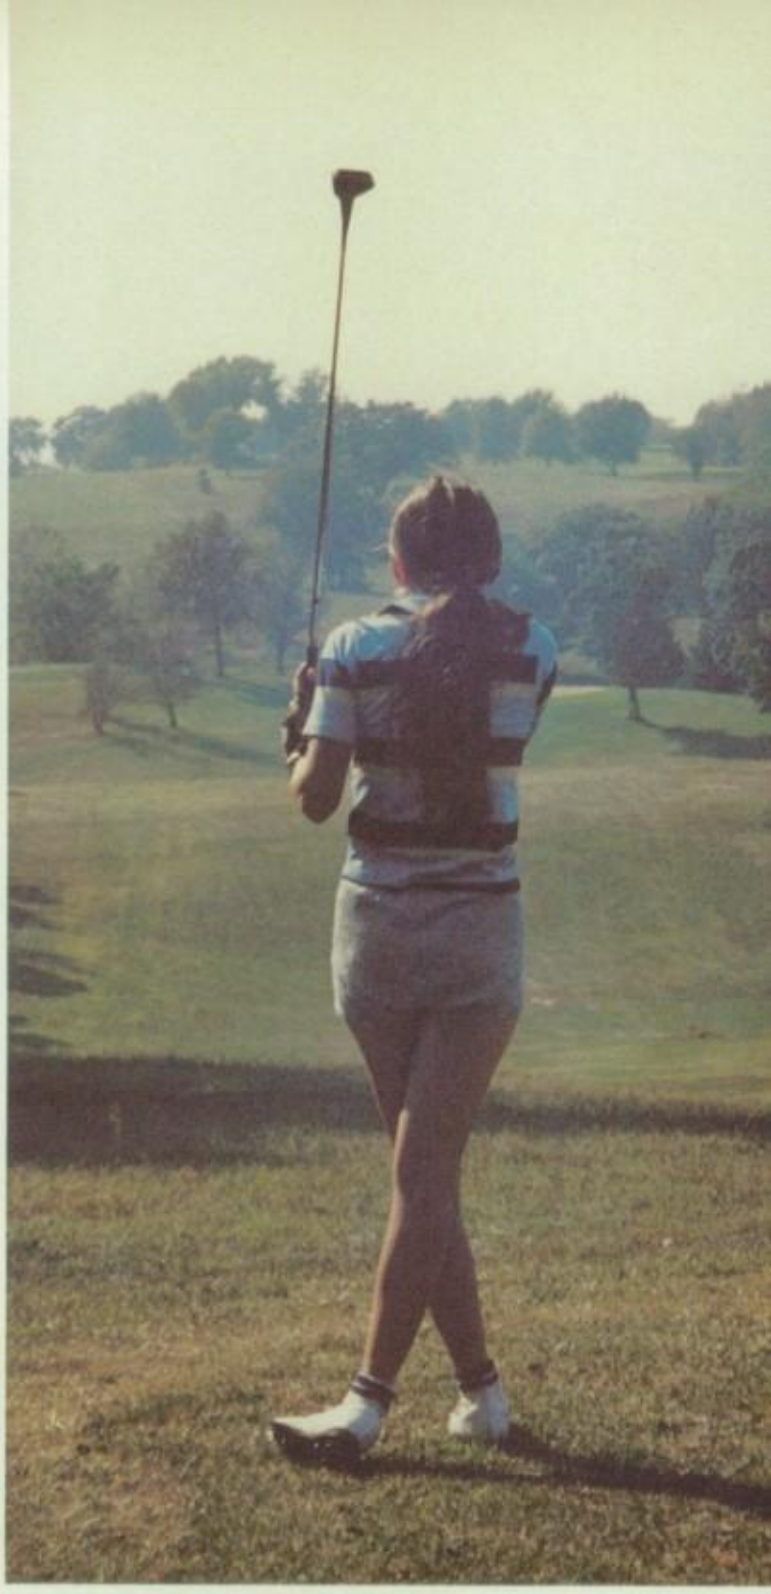


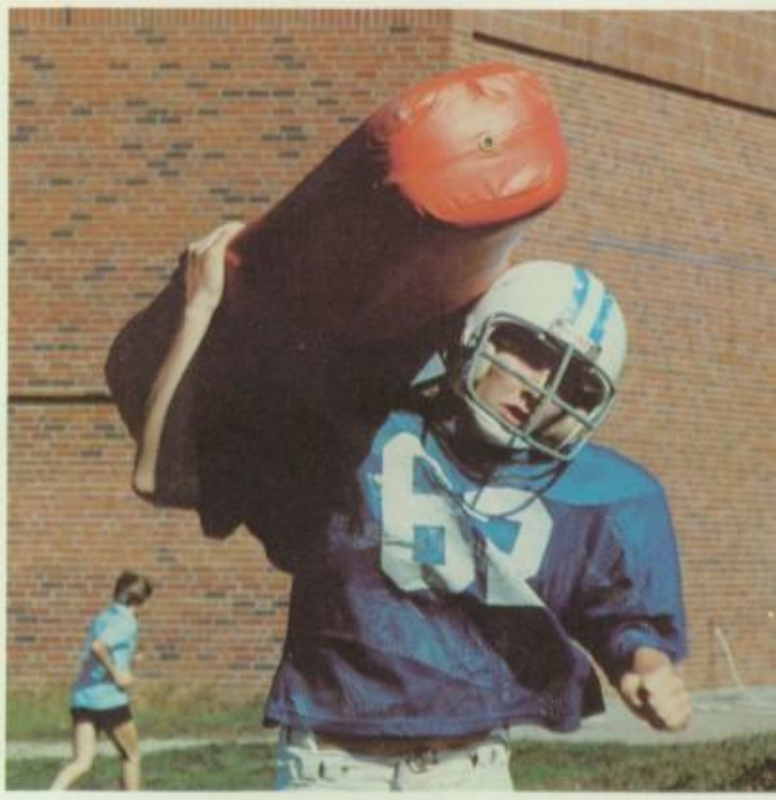












Time to play.
We accept
The challenge
And defy the odds.
We are pressed
For time.
We surpass the limit
And reach higher.

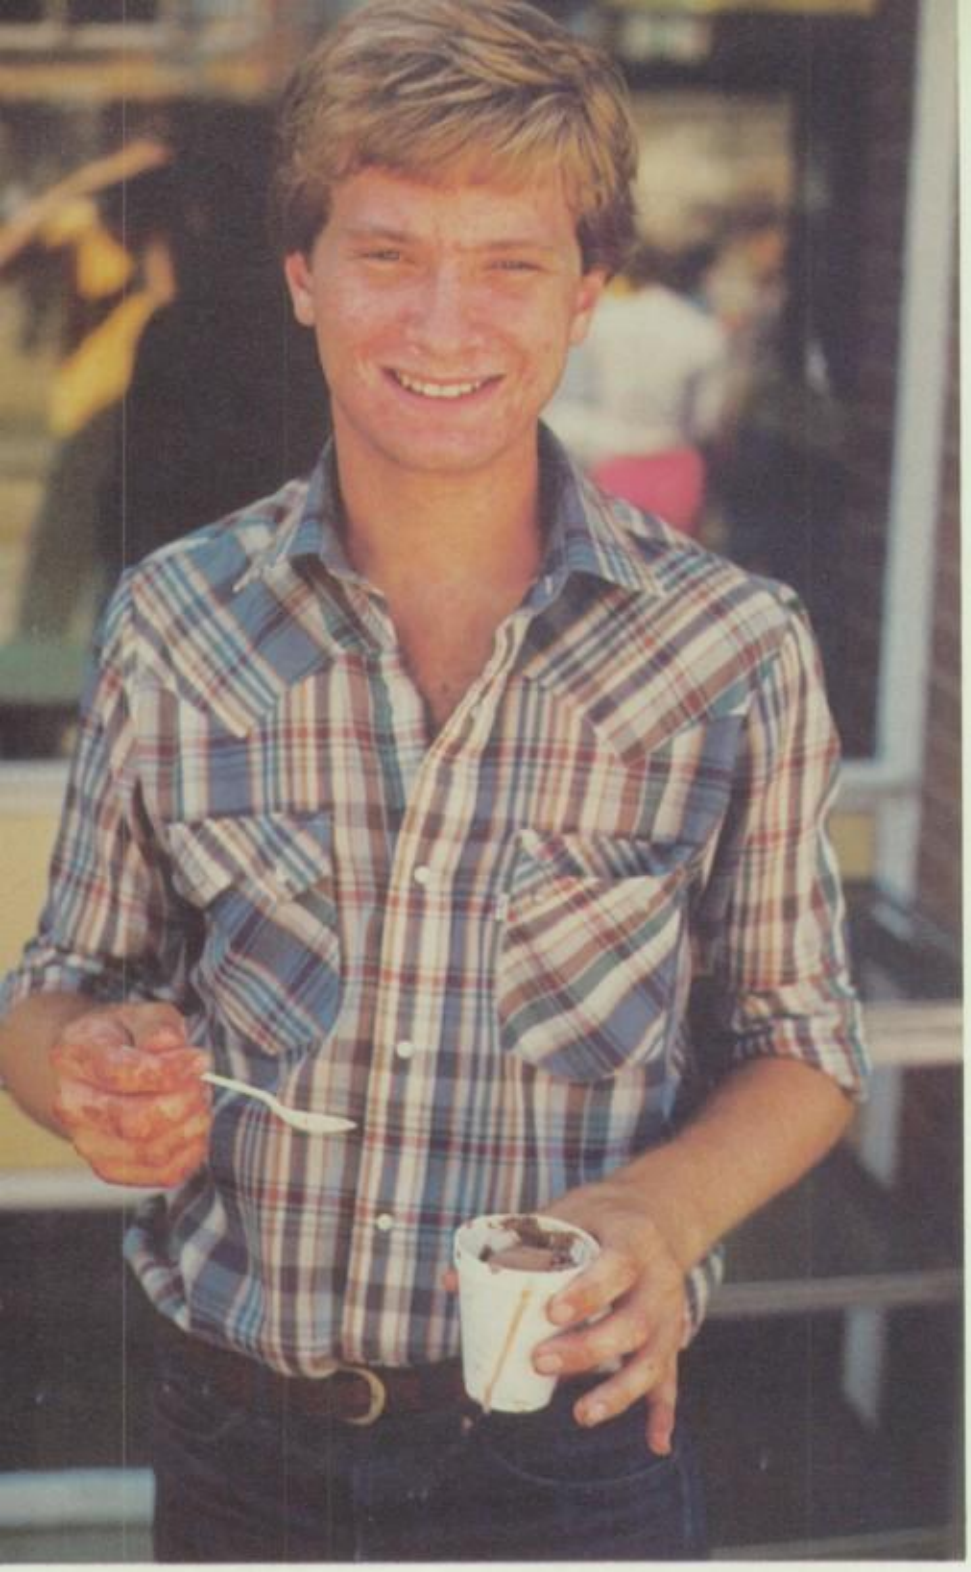
Time for spirit.

Our souls fly high with the excitement;

A combination of us exerts endless enthusiasm.

Each person we encounter adds to our lives.

52



Evening time.
We must find the time
And use it wisely.
Nothing lasts
But memories;
They are forever
Trapped.
We hold the key
That unlocks
The door.
For our time
Is here.
Our dreams
Are moving Forward.

Time dwindles.
Another day has reached its end.
Some depart,
While others linger.
We do not really know
Where we are headed.
Yet when we arrive
At our destination,
We will know
Who we are.

Girls Add Enthusiasm, Support School Events

"It's something to get involved in that's really fun!" exclaimed Linda James, Girls' Pep Club secretary.

The work of the Girls' Pep Exec. is a large factor in the spirit of the school. They paint signs, make "team treats", plan pep assemblies, sponsor hall competition, and support all sports and activities.

"I love being Pep Club treasurer. The people are fun to be with and I like to be rowdy at the games," commented Shantelle Hietbrink.

Sheri Spurney, Girls' Pep Club vice-president, was in charge of the homecoming ceremony. "It was a lot of work and I complained too much about everything. After it was all over, I was ready to do it again," stated Spurney.

"We do so much work that no one knows about. Each class representative had to make at least 15 signs to put up in Prairie Village on Lancer Day," Spurney said.

The four officers, four senior representatives, and four junior representatives were elected last spring. The four sophomore representatives were elected this fall.

"We took the sophomores to Jennie Ferguson's farm. We all had a great time," said Hietbrink.

As a group, Pep Exec. goes to one sports event besides football or basketball every week.

"The teams really appreciate our being at their games or meets. We all try to get together and go to the events when we can get the biggest group," commented Spurney.

"To be an effective Pep Club officer, you have to care about what people think, get along with people, and really be peppy," said James.

At the death of an opponent, Pep Club becomes overjoyed.

Boys' Pep Club Promotes Spirit and Enthusiasm

"The Boys' Pep Club helps spread spirit in all sports," said Shawn Hunter, treasurer.

"We work closely with the Girls' Pep Club. All the pep assemblies have themes, and all Pep Execs. get together on Sunday afternoon to plan them," said Sean Dugan, president. For the first time, pep assemblies were held during seventh hour.

"It is a good way to get involved in school and still be able to be rowdy," commented vice-president Mark Logsdon.

Dugan, Logsdon, Hunter, and Layne Funk, secretary, contributed to the planning of the Watermelon Feed, Lancer Day, homecoming, and various other functions.

"I really enjoy being a Pep Club officer," said Hunter. "It really allows me to be involved, represent my friends, and get to know the faculty a little bit better."

Girls' Goal Is Spirit

Spirit and hard work are what the cheerleaders at SM East contributed to the school. The cheerleaders' goal was to "promote spirit" said varsity captain Amy Friesen. They achieved this goal by having early morning practices which were from 6:30 to 8:00 a.m. The practices started the day school was out last year, and continued throughout the summer.

In July, the cheerleaders attended the National Cheerleading Association Cheerleading Camp. While at camp, they received the "Award of Excellence" which is the top award given by the camp. They were chosen as the number one team out of approximately 100 other teams. Freisen commented that the award was "a real honor."

J.V. cheerleaders are always synchronized.

Cheerleaders add spirit to the crowd.

Girls Spark Team Spirit

"It's a lot of fun but a lot of hard work goes into it," said J.V. cheerleading captain, Janet Love. The J.V. cheerleaders kept busy by attending all of the J.V. sports. They also cheered during the third quarter for varsity football games when the varsity team went to the opponent's side to do the varsity's hello cheer.

The J.V. cheerleaders began practicing last summer. When school started, they practiced two times a week at 6:15 in the morning.

Maureen Niggle sponsored the J.V. and varsity teams, supervised practices and scheduled the girls to cheer.

Sophomores Show Spunk

The sophomore cheerleaders' responsibilities included attending all sophomore sporting events and supporting the varsity cheerleaders at the varsity football games.

During the football season, the sophomore cheerleaders split into two teams so that both the black and the white football teams would have cheerleaders.

The 12 girls chosen in September practiced twice a week. Wendy Thill, the sophomore cheerleaders' sponsor, supervised the practices and worked with the captains to schedule the girls to cheer at upcoming sport events.

Girls Keep Tradition

Six girls at East make up the Heralding squad. The six Heralders this year are Kathy Miller, Carrie Hall, Lisa Mick, Carolyn Whitehead, Debbie Barnes, and Rebecca Walker.

The Heralders perform the opening ceremonies at Pep Assemblies and at both boys' and girls' basketball games. The Heralders also take care of the mascot.

The mascots are unmasked at the year's last assembly. The Lancer mascots this year were Stephanie Grant, Camella Bailey, Lisa Mick, and Carolyn Whitehead. The mascots generate spirit at football and basketball games. They also perform the opening ceremonies at the pep assemblies.

Leaders Shout To Raise Spirit

"We try to get the fans to yell for their team in a constructive manner," commented Bob Houske.

Six senior boys were selected last spring to be football yell leaders. It is their job to "get the crowd excited and pump up the team's spirit," stated Shawn Hunter.

"Being a yell leader gives me a chance to get involved at the games even if I don't play. It's fun to be right there on the sidelines," said Sean Dugan.

"I like all of the extra activities involved in being a yell leader," added Mark Logsdon.

B-Ball Crowds' Spirit Raised By Yell Leaders

In past years, basketball yell leaders were chosen in a student election. However, due to limited space on the court, five of the six yell leaders made a repeat performance during basketball season.

Senior Joe Ozorkiewicz was chosen by sponsor David Wolff and Boys' Pep Club President Sean Dugan to replace Mark Logsdon, who played on the basketball team.

"The yell leaders add to the color and spirit of the games," commented Mike Irish.

"We were told to yell within the guidelines set by the school-in a constructive manner," stated Bob Houske.

"We try to encourage people to go to the games, home and away, because the size of the crowd is important. The more people, the louder yells," said Ozorkiewicz.

"I think our best asset is the sophomores. They have lots of good dancing skills and the ability to make up dances," commented Kristen Brock, senior.

This year's team consists mainly of sophomores. The team practices every day for an hour and a half. This summer drill team members had a month of practice and then attended drill team camp.

At camp, the team won a spirit pom for having the best spirit and a blue ribbon for their home team dance. The dance is made up by the seniors who in turn teach it to the rest of the team.

Flag Team Used as an Auxilary

"They put in early practice time as well as extra things such as meeting for new routines," praised Debbie Ogden, sponsor, discussing the strong assets of the reorganized flag team. Ogden went on to say, "Flag team is important. It is a strong auxilary group of the band. The flags look flashy and really nice on the football field. This year's team made a name for themselves because of how well they performed and because they were together. The girls were willing to work."

Their hard work showed in the team's routines when they competed with the SM East marching band and drill team in two marching band festivals. The team won a number one ranking at the competition.

Dana Paul Chosen

During half time festivities of the Oct. 16 SM East-SM North varsity football game, the 1981-1982 Homecoming queen, Dana Paul, was crowned.

When asked how she felt about being chosen this year's homecoming queen, Paul responded, "I can't believe it."

Although threatened by mist and the possibility of rain, the rainbow mural backdrop and the display of multi-colored, helium-filled balloons brightened the evening's decorations.

Girls' Pep Club vice-president, Sheri Spurney, who organized the event expressed her own fears of getting rained out: "I thought it was going to rain, but then I realized that you need a little rain in order to make a rainbow."

As the SM East marching band played "Somewhere Over the Rainbow," the candidates were escourted on to the football field by their respective fathers.

The Homecoming court consisted of Tanya Feldkamp, first attendant; Cindy Shaw, second attendant; Beth Baker, third attendant; and Angela Hahn, fourth attendant.

Suzy League, the 1982 Sweetheart Queen, was crowned at the halftime of the game against SM North on Feb. 16.

First attendant Kathleen Kroenert and second attendant Kathy Biggs were also crowned that evening. For the first time a tie existed. Julie McGuire and Sue Stechschulte shared the title of third attendant.

Fifteen girls were chosen to be Sweetheart candidates by the senior class. The girls were presented at an all-school assembly and the queen was elected by the entire student body.

The game against North was highlighted by Ken Glaser's 21 points and six rebounds. The Lancers won the game 53 to 46, adding to the atmosphere of the evening.

No traditional Sweetheart Dance was held this year. In its place, student council sponsored "The Event." The entertainment was provided by Dick Wilson and Jay Cooper of KY 102. The informal dance and party took place in the little gym.

Debbie Barnes, Ann Bernard, Carrie Hall, Lynn Hodges, Jackie Lewis, Kellie McConahay, Mindy Newman, Shelley Osborne, Darlene Sandlin, and Sheri Spurney, were the ten girls who made up the court.

Students Participate

"Our main goal is to get the students more involved and getting them to let us know what they would like to see done," stated Jack Frost, StuCo president.

Along with the help of the new StuCo sponsor, Eldon Evans, StuCo tried to create more student involvement. One way in which they accomplished this goal was by holding meetings every other Wednesday that were open to any student that wished to attend. At the meetings, students were encouraged to voice their opinions and ideas.

In order to support the many functions which StuCo organizes, StuCo held several fund-raising events. These projects included a rummage sale that raised $615 and during November, the first annual "Turkey of the Year" contest was held. This was a contest in which staff members were given a bald turkey. Students then were to determine the winner by buying and pasting feathers on the candidate turkey of their choice.

Among future projects of StuCo, one outstanding event will be the SM East hosting of the National Conference of Student Councils in June 1983. "We're looking forward to it," said Evans.

Rainbow Shines Over Prom

"Over the Rainbow" was this year's theme for the Junior-Senior Prom.

Students attending the prom were treated to a wonderful trip into Oz. Beginning in Kansas, the couples travelled from the colored black and white house of Aunt Emma, through the Tornado tunnel to the colorful land of the Munchkins. Following the yellow-brick road, the journey continued through the farm fields, the jungle, and the forest. They were then led to the witch's castle where refreshments were served by prom servers dressed as winged monkeys. The remainder of the evening was spent in Emerald City.

The theme was chosen by the junior class officers and was put into action with the help of the prom chairman and over 40 prom servers.

"Things have really gone well. It was hard getting everything organized, but the results were great," said David Epstein, junior class president.

Staff Is Enthusiastic

"This year's staff is very enthusiastic," said Robert Dillion, sponsor of The Harbinger.

Led by Kellie McConahay, editor-in-chief, and Janet Kaufman, assistant editor-in-chief, this year's fall staff set out to produce the school paper. "I feel the staff is doing a good job. Everyone is really putting forth an effort. They really want to be good," said McConahay.

Changes in this year's fall semester layout included a shift from the standard layout form to a more modern layout. This gave the paper a more modern style.

The Harbinger is the only high school paper produced weekly in the city. According to Dillion, weekly distribution is a definite advantage because it allows more students to write. Therefore, the staff can have more members.

Spring Staff Brings Changes for Harbie

Second semester saw several changes for the Harbinger.

Plans for more graphics (artwork), basic layout alterations, and a bigger emphasis on better writing techniques were to be initiated according to Jack Frost, editor-in-chief.

The staff is made up of approximately forty-three Journalism II students. The staff was cut down to 43 because too many students had enrolled in the class.

Frost is himself very enthusiastic about the spring 'Harbie,' its staff, and being editor. "The staff is really great. They have some very creative ideas. I think it'll be a good paper," commented Frost.

Staff Produces Quality

"This year's staff is more active and dedicated than staffs in previous years. They really want to produce a good quality magazine," commented Nora Lamkin, Labyrinth sponsor.

Labyrinth offers students a way to publish their creative works of prose, poetry, and artwork in a magazine produced by students.

Several changes have been made this year. "We're trying to make it more like a magazine," stated Darren Sextro, assistant editor-in-chief. "We're also trying to get more prose, short stories, as well as poetry. In the past, we've had a publication of almost all poetry," said Sextro.

The staff is also trying to get more students involved in the Labyrinth. "We're trying to promote it more by holding meetings open to all interested students. We also try to announce when the issues go on sale to the student body," said Gina Kellogg editor-in-chief, "We've had some difficulties, but I feel we will produce 2 good issues."

Scholars Commended; Recognized Nationally

National Merit semifinalists and Letter of Commendation recipients ranked in the top five per cent of all students who took the PSAT in the United States.

In keeping with the high academic standards, SM East had 10 semifinalists and 27 Letter of Commendation winners.

The PSAT test. Administered in October of the junior year, is a preliminary for the SAT college entrance exams. In order to become a semifinalist, a student needed a score of 191, as well as a recommendation from the school principal.

In their senior year, semifinalists took other tests to become finalists. PSAT scores were also sent to colleges across the country.

In order to receive a Letter of Commendation, a score of 178 was necessary. Letters of Commendation winners were also nationally recognized.

The academic promise of SM East students were exhibited in the large percentage of semifinalists and Letter of Commendation recipients.

NHS Provides Service; Recognizes Excellence

The National Honor Society was a major organization which honored scholarship and service. In April, they sponsored a community-wide blood drive.

The officers of the National Honor Society were Jamie Snedaker, president; Nagin Ahmed, vice-president; Kristen Houltberg, secretary; and Wade Wilkenson, treasurer.

Houltberg was responsible for the blood drive. Donors came from the surrounding area. Students were also eligible to give blood.

An honors and awards night was held in May. Wilkenson was in charge of the ceremonies where NHS inducted its new members, scholarship pins were awarded, and various book awards were presented.

Mark Logsdon and Nagin Ahmed were nominated by the entire chapter to receive national scholarships worth $2000. The headquarters of NHS provide scholarships for competition winners from across the United States.

"National Honor Society is a good way for students to help their school and community while being recognized for their academic excellence," commented Houltberg.

Beta Society, a new program sponsored by Mrs. Linda Thompson (p. 59), is a unique program open only to sophomores with a 3.8 gpa. This group, which is the only one of its kind in Kansas, stress scholarship and service.

Quill and Scroll Honors Student Journalists

In 1929, George Gallup, known for his public opinion research, founded the Quill and Scroll. The organization began at the University of Iowa, and has spread throughout the nation and other countries as well.

The Quill and Scroll is a society that honors high school journalists. The organization is payed the same recognition as the National Honor Society and the National Forensic League.

Before a student can be nominated, he must meet three requirements: the student must be a junior or senior, he must be included in the upper third of his class, and the journalist must have contributed superior work to the publication to which he is a part. The publications which merit possible nominations are the school newspaper, yearbook, and creative writing magazine.

Robert Dillon, Richard Graham, Nora Lamkin, respective advisors of the Harbinger, Hauberk, and Labrynth, recommended students to the Quill and Scroll. The organization accepts the recommendations and thus the student becomes a lifetime member.

An induction ceremony took place in the spring. The evening included a candlelighting ceremony, a guest speaker, and a reception. The event took place at SM Northwest where all of the Quill and Scroll recipients were recognized together. This distinct honor is one way of distinguishing very dedicated people.

Marching Band Receives #1 Rating at Wichita

Under the direction of Al Hanna, band instructor, band at East was very strong again this year. Marching Band was at it's best this year receiving a number 1 rating at the Wichita State Marching Festival in October. Marching Band also received new uniforms. Drum majors were senior Deanna Paramore and junior Lulu Mennen.

The Marching Band was made up of the Symphonic and Concert bands which each performed a variety of concerts throughout the school year. Symphonic Band was made up of primarily juniors and seniors while Concert Band consisted of sophomores. Symphonic Band was named the State Honor Band this year and received the great honor of performing at the Kansas Music Educators Convention.

Also offered to band students was the chance to play in one of the renowned jazz bands. The Blue Knights played swing or stage-band music while the Jazz Ensemble offered advanced musicians a chance to perform classic jazz music. Jazz Ensemble will participate in the Pittsburg State Jazz Festival in March. "It's something we're really looking forward to," commented Hanna. Students that desired to be a member of the band were chosen by try out.

Many band instramentalists were also members of the students to generate school spirit. The band performed at football and basketball games as well as pep assemblies.

Orchestra's Dedication Produces Fine Results

Under the direction of instructor, Ken Tebow, the fifty-five member orchestra once again had a very successful year. Covering a variety of music from classical to popular, the East orchestra is made up of string and wind instrumentalists.

Combining with other orchestras and the choir, orchestra performed in several festivals and concerts throughout the year. One of the most important of the annual concerts is the State Music Festival. This year, state will take place in March where the East musicians are expected to do very well. "We almost always receive high marks in the music festivals," stated Tebow, "East just seems to have a lot of dedicated musicians." According to Tebow, East has had musicians entered in state music competition every year since its beginning.

Along with the chance to participate in state music competition, orchestra also received the opportunity to try out for this year's pit orchestra for the spring musical, "The Sound of Music."

Choirs Sing in Harmony

The quality of music performed by SM East choirs took lots of practice and hard work. The choirs were directed by Dan Zollars. The Chamber Singers is a group of top singers selected by Zollars. These singers get the opportunity of touring the K.C. area during the holiday season. The choraliers is less competitive than the Chamber Singers, but still very difficult to get into. Choraliers is made up of mostly seniors and a few juniors. Concert choir involved juniors and sophomores, and the Girls choir includes girls usually in their first year of singing at East.

Highlights included Vespers and the Masterworks Concert. Vespers has proven to be the most popular among the concerts. Classical music was provided at the Masterworks Concert which was also quite popular. Many choir members participated in this year's musical, "The Sound of Music."

The entertainment provided by the choirs was greatly enjoyed.

NFL Offers Experience

National Forensics League, NFL, is an honorary fraternity for those students interested in speech and debate. In order to become a member of this selective organization, a student had to accumulate a minimum of twenty-five points. Once a student became a member, he could advance to higher levels within the organization by accumulating varying amounts of the points.

NFL hosts two debate tournaments a year. One is the SM East Varsity Debate Tournament held in November and the other is the SM East Sophomore tournament held in January.

Forensics season takes place during third quarter of each school year. Students could participate in oratory and extemporaneous speaking, duet acting, and impromptu.

Outstanding NFL members included NFL president, Stefanie Sanders and her teammate David Poisner. Other top debaters were juniors Tom Frank and David Godley. "I think both teams have the capacity of winning and going on to the national tournament," commented NFL sponsor Larry Brown.

SM East Thespian Troupe

Dramatics Emphasized; Club Develops Talent

"Act well your part; therein all honor lies," is the motto of the Thespians.

Headed by officers Stephanie Schumann, Kym Grow, Debbie Shannon, Lynn Bell, and Kay Allen, Thespians were highly involved in sports and activities.

At football games, they sold programs. At basketball games, the troupe sold concessions as well.

A system of points is used to become a member of the organization. Any student who participates in debate, forensics, repertory theater, back stage crews or plays is eligible for Thespian points. Those who have earned ten points by the end of the year are initiated.

Parties were also included in the Thespian year. Cast parties after shows were, for some, the funnest part of their production.

A banquet was held in May to commemorate the year and to honor actors, actresses, and crew members for outstanding contributions in their specific field of endeavor.

Theater Season Opens With Humor and Emotion

The dramatic season opened Oct. 1, 2, and 3, with the production of William Inge's "Picnic." Max Brown, director, was aided by senior Chris Long, assistant director, and Bryce York, technical director. "I was chosen because of my experience in the drama productions in past years," said Long.

"Picnic" centers around a small Kansas town, where life has become uncomfortable and confining for several of the female citizens. Although it contains many comedic episodes, "Picnic" is primarily an emotional drama.

To add a deeper understanding to the roles, the "Picnic" cast visited Paola, Kan., several weeks before their performance. This served as their stage for several practice sessions. In Paola, the cast shopped and practiced the play in the front yard of Brown's parents' home. Here, they were able to see what life in a small town is like.

Anna Bauer, a blind sophomore, gained city-wide attention for her part as Mrs. Potts' mother. She was featured in the Harbinger, the Squire, and the K.C. Star.

Students Perform Musical

The true story of the Von Trapp family was enacted by SM East's top performers. This popular musical, "The Sound of Music", written by Rodgers and Hammerstein, takes place in Austria and portrays the story of Maria, an errant would-be-nun, who takes a job as nanny to the motherless Von Trapp children. In a suspenseful scene, the Nazis chase the Von Trapp family.

Try-outs required the performer to display his ability to sing, dance, and act. Max Brown and Dan Zollars directed the performers. Jennifer Patty starred as Maria, David Sisney as Captain Von Trapp, and Kay Allen as Mother Abbess. Four children of the Von Trapp family were portrayed by students who did not attend East. Practices were held each day after school until 6:00.

Not only did the actors and actresses work hard, but the backstage crews responsible for the setting, publicity, and tickets spent long hours preparing for the musical. The crews were directed by Bryce York.

Music was provided by the pit orchestra directed by Ken Tebow. Musicians were required to try-out if they wished to be a part of the pit orchestra.

Many students and their directors worked hard to provide the audience with a quality performance.

'All My Sons' Crew Uses Slides for Movie Effect

Work on stage props and background began on the spring play, "All My Sons" around the beginning of March. Every night after school, members of the spring stage crew worked to get props, background, sound, lights ready for opening night, April 29.

According to teacher-supervisor, Bryce York, crew is trying to make the designs look very realisitc as well as fade pictures of play characters in and out on a screen placed behind action scenes. "It makes it look like a movie. That's the illusion that we are trying to create," stated York.

Crew managers are Jay Koupal, stage manager; Lynn Bell, lights; Stuart Maddox, paint/construction; Stefanie Schumann; costumes, Polly Taylor, props; Lisa Senecker, make up; Wendy Pearce, publicity; John Allison, house manager; Anne Reckling, business manager; and John Skaptasom, sound manager.

AFS SPONSORS FOREIGN EXCHANGE PROGRAM

"About 60 students from the entire K.C. area have gone abroad on either the summer or full year program this year," stated Gene Criley, the East area member of the American Field Service Board of Managers.

AFS sponsors foreign exchange students. They also help send American students to foreign countries. Four exchange students attended SM East this year.

Seniors Brian Fickel, Becky Lamberton, and Lauren Ray went to France, Turkey, and Switzerland, respectively, for the 1981 summer program.

Besides AFS, there was one exchange student sponsored by Youth for Understanding, and three students were privately sponsored by families in the SM East area.

DECA Attends Conferences

Having four main goals, the DECA class offered juniors and seniors the opportunity to experience the business world. It teaches students leadership qualities and provides vocational knowledge and civic consciousness.

To develop these skills, DECA had many sales projects to sponsor students who went to both state and national conferences. At the conferences, the students demonstrated their knowledge about their jobs. Conferences awarded students top prizes such as scholoarships and shares in petroleum stock.

OEA Acquires Office Knowledge First Hand

The business department offers two clubs to students. One of these clubs is known as OEA or Office Education Association.

OEA is a two year program offered to both juniors and seniors. As a junior, students enroll in an hour-long elective where they learn what it's like to be in an office. They work with the various business machines such as typewriters and computors.

If the students wish to continue their senior year they enroll in Office Ed. II. In this program the students leave at noon and hold a regular office job.

The Naval Junior Reserve Officer Training Corp prepares students for military careers. At least 30% of the students enrolled in NJROTC continue in military careers. Lt. Commander Charles Lockhart and Chief Randy Smith taught naval history, oceanography, navigation, and politics in NJROTC classes. The NJROTC Color Guard performed at both football and basketball games. Practice for the color guard were three nights a week. Trivia Buffs Compete

At the mid-point of their season the Categories record stood at 0-3. Faculty sponsor Everett Rees stated, "We're looking forward to a much better showing in the second half of the season."

This year was one of the largest turn outs ever. Sixty students took the test. The ten members selected were expected to have a general knowledge in history, geography, literature, and science. According to Rees, this year's team has six new members. The team attended tournaments where the members answered trivia questions to score.

At the mid-point of the season, sophomore Chris Parker was impressive with his scoring. Rob Southall, senior, captained the team.

Naturalists Gain Science Credit

Student Naturalist is a biology class, offered to both juniors and seniors. Its prupose was to give the students a better understanding of nature.

Student Naturalist was based on a class offered in the past. This year the class was a combinatoin of both studying and working with the animals at the school.

Each student had their own project which included taking care of the different animals in the building.

Students had projects such as making an insect collection and setting up home bird feeders and recording results of the feedings.

Members Gain Knowledge

Developing students knowledge and skill in subjects outside the classroom was the major purpose of many of the clubs at East. The students involved in clubs also had the opportunity to make new relationships.

The International Club provided students with the chance to learn about foreign cultures through foreign films, discussions, and relationships with foreign exchange students. The members and their sponsor, Chris Rzepcyk, planned activities to earn money that pays, the scholarship charge which brings AFS students to East.

Practices for the chess club were officially every Tuesday night, but the more serious players practiced every night after school in the classroom of sponsor Paul DeBarthe. Many of the members were outstanding chess players and aided their club in winning many first places in tournaments.

The German Club involved every student enrolled in German. Oktoberfest, the celebration of the harvest, was one of the many activities which Joel Nagel, the sponser, and the German Club planned. The club also sponsored an all day trip to K.U.

The opportunity to meet new friends and gain knowledge was offered by many clubs at East.

Intramurals Provides Sports for All

The intramural program is designed to provide physical activity and sports without having to go out for a school team. From 500-600 teenagers participate in the program over the entire year.

In the fall, an open gym is available for anyone who wants to participate. Sports offered are table tennis, handball, and the weight room is also open.

During the winter, intramurals provides the chance for teams to compete in a sophomore, junior, and senior men's league and a women's basketball league. At the end of ten weeks, the top six teams with the best records compete in a tournament.

With the spring comes coed volleyball and lifetime activities which start a week after basketball ends. Lifetime activities was started by John Beltram. The activities include stretching and physical conditioning in the form of jogging, jump-roping, weight-lifting and isometrics which tones the muscles.

Beltram started working with the program two years ago. He began the program because he enjoys the activity working with teenagers. "I get a very good response from them. I get close to them and interact with them doing the thing I know best—physical fitness," stated Beltram.

Squad Faces Tough Teams

The varsity team, led by the new head coach Emerson Wilson, ended their most successful season in three years with a 4-5 record.

Although East did not have a victorious season, their record was better than indicated because of their difficult opposition including Rockhurst, Lawrence and SM Northwest.

The majority of the team felt that beating West and former Coach Wambsgans was the highlight of the year. The team came from behind for a 21-13 victory over the Vikings.

Team Gains Experience

The Junior Varsity team led by Coach Chuck Sulzen ended the season with a 2-7 record.

The team consisted of sophomores and juniors.

The high point of the season was their home game with Harmon, in which they defeated the Bulldogs 21-13.

One factor that contributed to their record was the lack of practice as a team, and squad instability. Sulzen stated "the best part of the season was winning the last two games which will hopefully carry us over to next year."

It takes practice to be the best.

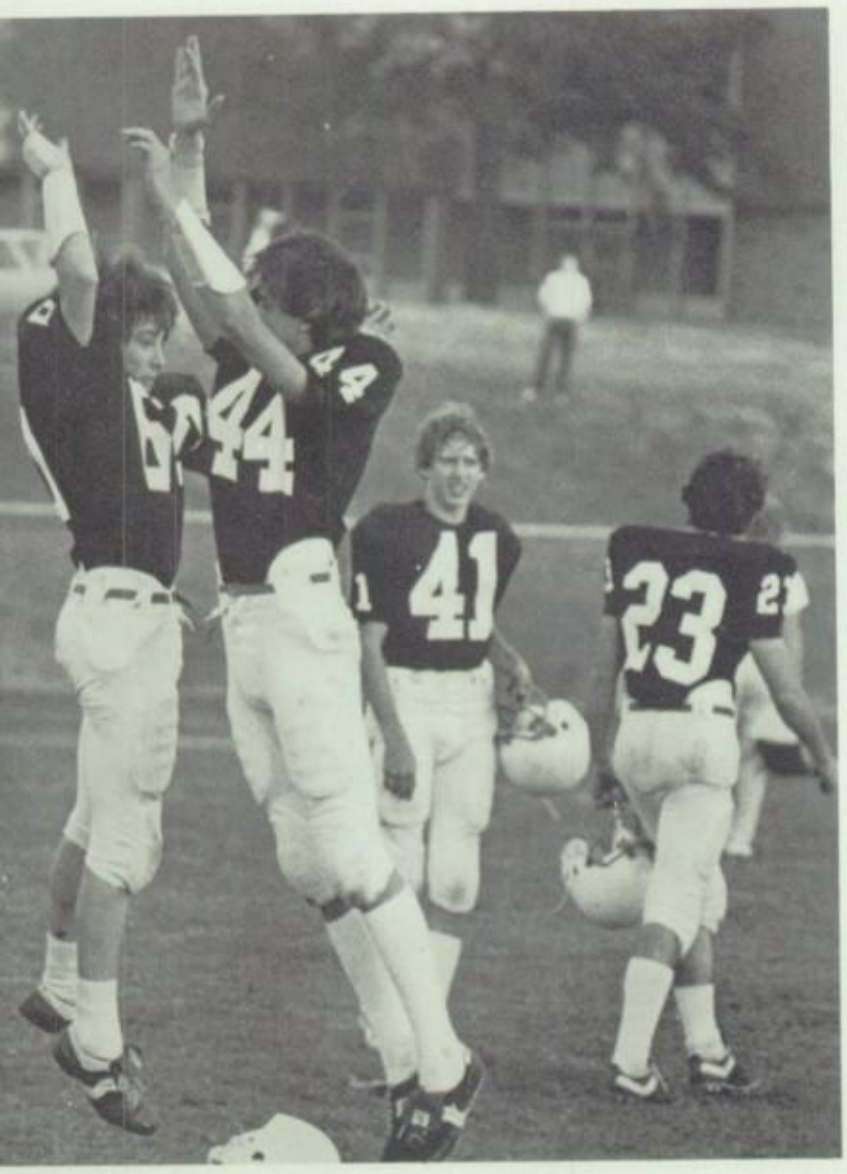
Sophs Seek Recognition



When the sophomore football players tried out in the early fall they were divided into two teams. They became part of the black or the white football team.

The Black team finished the season with a 5-4 record. The highlight of the season was the game against Rockhurst. They defeated the Hawklets 21-13 making this the turning point of their season.

The White team also finished with a 5-4 record. Their last game against the West Vikings left the White team with their victorious season. They defeated the Vikings by the score of 13-3.

Soccer Team Works Hard

The 1981-82 season for both Varsity and J.V. was filled with hard work and team spirit. The J.V. finished out the season with a score of 15-1, losing to Northwest at their final game. "Varsity didn't have the scoring punch of the J.V., but otherwise they played skillfully," Everett Rees, assistant coach stated. Both Coach Les Parrish, who has coached the Lancers since the introduction of soccer at East, and asst. coach Rees built up the teams. Varsity was second in the pre-season tournament, and the final score for the season was 9-7-3. Both teams found Northwest to be the most challenging opponent. Allan Parke won the title of player of the year for the Lancer team. The Golden Boot award was earned by Shawn Hunter. Two-a-day practices which included drills on maneuvering began August 20 until players switched to single practices each day when school started.

This was soccer's third season and has become a well respected and widely publicized sport. The outlook for next year is good, even though there will be a loss of many good seniors.

East Spikers Take State

"This year's team is by far one of the best teams I've been privileged to coach," commented Christal Hammon, coach of the 1981 state champion girl's volleyball team.

The volleyballers ended their season with a superb record of 36 wins and only 2 losses. Along with the outstanding season the girls took the state championship by defeating the six-year-defending champions, the Lawrence Lions.

Looking to next year, Hammon feels that the juniors have a great chance of repeating their state victory. Unfortunately, Hammon will not return next year as East's volleyball coach. Expressing the team's sentiments on Hammon's departure, junior co-captain Sarah Morris said, "In my opinion, she's the best coach I've ever played under. We're really going to miss her."

Talent Sweeps Season

"I think we have the best individual talent, depth, and overall team in the state," said Coach Carolyn Howard of the 1981 Girls' State Champion tennis team.

Coach Howard commented on the SM East courts' new color scheme saying that they are "something which is unique to the area." Playing for the first time ever on Columbia blue, black, and white courts, the girls whizzed through their season winning 18 of 21 matches. Included in these victories were the Shawnee Mission District tournament, the East Invitational, the team's fifth consecutive Sunflower League title, and Regionals where all six members qualified for state.

When asked about the season and who the team's toughest competition was, Amy Friesen responded, "Our main competition came from within the team itself. We are our own toughest competition."

Although the girl gymnasts began the season with many injuries, they worked hard and ended the season well by winning fourth place in both the Sunflower League and Regionals. Led by Angela Hahn, team captain, the gymnasts placed second at the Lee Summit Invitational and earned third place at the Olathe and SM North Invitational. "They had many injuries to overcome, but they bounced back and did very well," Coach Terry Ayers stated. Practices began August 20 with three hour practices, six days a week. Despite an injured ankle, Lori Meroney's expertise on the uneven bars qualified her for state. Kara Heley and Lori Spurney were elected most valuable players. Because of her marked advancement Lucy Graham was voted Most Improved. Coach Ayers, who will not be coaching next year, expressed: "I'm going to miss it terribly. My heart will be at East."

Boys' Cross Country Team Shows Wealth of Potential

"I would say that we had an outstanding season," stated Karl Englund, boys' cross country coach.

The team came in third at the League, Regional, and State meets.

"In placing third at State, we surprised a lot of teams, as well as ourselves," commented Jack Frost, senior.

Frost came in ninth, junior John Clough came in eleventh, senior David Wiggins finished nineteenth, senior David Ricketts came in twenty-fourth, and junior Doug Hedrick placed fourty-second at State.

"We knew we had the potential to be among the top three teams in Kansas," stated Frost.

During the season, the boys came in second at the Wyandotte meet and third at the SM West Invitational. They also took second place to SM South at the SM Park meet.

Two-Milers Accomplish Goals

"I think this was our best girls' cross country team ever," said head coach John Haraughty.

The season included five wins, two second place, and one fifth place finish. The highlights of the year were winning the League meet and coming in second at State. The girls ran against 100 teams during the course of the season and ended with a record of 94-6.

League finishes included senior Jackie Lewis, champion; junior Ann Stadler, fourth place; sophomore Kellie Audley, fifth place; and senior Jan Unruh, ninth place.

Three runners finished among the top ten at the State meet. Stadler finished fourth, Lewis placed fifth, and Audley finished seventh. Two other runners, Unruh and sophomore Alicia Stephany, came in nineteenth and thirty-first, respectively.

"Our goal during the year is to win League and State. Everything else is in preparation for those two meets. I would say we had an outstanding season," concluded Haraughty.

Golfers Produced Winning Season

Once again this year, the potent girls' golf team was one of the stronger teams in the state. The golfers opened the season by winning their first three tournaments.

The Emporia Invitational was among one of these first victories. Here behind the superb round of 75 by Jenny Ballard, the girls set a team record of 327.

Other season highlights included the team's seventh straight Sunflower League Regional's victory was the individual qualifying of 5 of the team's top 6 players; seniors Shelley Osborne, Lynn Hodges, and Kelley Peden; junior Kelle Roesch, and sophomore Ballard. The team took third in the State championship tournament the following week.

When asked to comment on the season, Osborne said, "We've had a very successful season. Coach (Norris Stauffer) has been great as usual. I wish the team luck next year."

Boys Take League Title

Finishing their season with a record of 17-2, the boys' varsity basketball team was the Sunflower Leagure champion for the first time in East's history. They played 12 league games and remained undefeated to achieve their title.

In the sub-state tournament, the boys played SM South and beat them for the third time. The final score was 48-45. They then played Wyandotte and lost. Wyandotte remained undefeated.

Ken Glaser, senior center, led the team with a field goal average of 26 points per game.

Also on the varsity team were seniors Mark Logsdon, Bill Kelly, David Wetzler, Brian Brown, Layne Funk; juniors Doug Hedrick, Matt Siuda, Mike Mason; and sophomores Brent Thompson, Steve Stechschulte, and Chase Van Dyne.

Coach Dale Graham commented, "We had some tough competition, but the team really pulled together. A lot of hard work went into the season and we came out on top."

Gals Get a New Coach

The girls varsity basketball team continued their outstanding play again this year. At the midpoint of the regular season, the Lancer's record stood at 10-1 and were among the top teams in the area.

The team's strength lies within the starting five players. Of these four are juniors all of whom have played together since seventh grade. The fifth player, senior, Amy Friesen, is complimented by teammate Morris as being "quick" and a "good defender."

"He's a super coach. He knows a lot about the game and always open to suggestions," stated junior, Sarah Morris of the varsity's new head coach, Dave Rehfeld. Rehfeld took over the reigns when former head coach, Dick Furman, resigned last year. According to Morris, Rehfeld has made changes in both the offensive and defensive strategies.

Looking toward State, the girl's toughest competition is likely to come from Wyandotte and SM South. According to Morris, however, the team hasn't played a team yet who's better than them.

The girls finished the year by placing second in the State tournament, the highest of any other East girl's basketball team.

"We are working to make East competitive," stated Dick Dramer, SM East's wrestling coach. Kent Erickson, senior, and Larry Wilkenson, junior, were the most outstanding wrestlers this year. Next year's team will feel the loss of Erickson. He scored 18 wins and 7 losses and competed at State.

Wrestlers practiced every day after school and Saturday mornings. They competed in three tournaments: Wyandotte, Gardner-Edgerton, and League. The team scored two wins and nine losses.

Lancer Swimmers Plunge Into an Impressive Season

The 1982 season marked the third impressive year that Andy Anderson has coached the boys swim team. The 1979-80 team did not win state but came in second behind Olathe. The 1980-81 year was nearly as successful when the boys finished fourth at state.

This year the boys' swim team followed the leadership of two co-captains, Jack Frost and Chuck Horner. These were the only two returning lettermen on a very inexperienced squad. Nevertheless, Coach Anderson had high hopes for the state meet.

The swim season started with the first meet on December 4, 1981. The conclusion of the swim season was the State Meet held at Kansas University on February 19-20. Each meet contains 10 swimming events. The events inlcude individual races and relays. The most enduring event is the 500 meter race which 15-20 laps of East's pool. This season proved to be another year which Anderson was proud.

Aquatic Acrobats Dive Divinely

Diving is a sport which takes extreme dedication. The three boys on the dive team, Mike Irish, captain; junior Tom Babb, and sophomore Spencer Deitrich, practiced two hours a day after school with an extra two hour practice on Thursdays and Saturdays. The practices consisted of weight training, stretching, and dive execution.

Nancy Samuel is a veteran three-year coach of the boys' dive team. She took the maximum number of divers to State each year she has been a coach. When asked about the athlete-coach relationship, Irish commented, "Diving is different from other sports in that a diving coach is there to coach, not teach. That is what makes Nancy such a good coach."

Led by coach Jim Southerland, the girls' diving team begins a new season.

After placing four of the team's top six members in State last year, the team divers are very 'enthusiastic' about this season said senior, Jodi Sayler.

The divers travel with the swim team and the points they receive for each member's dives are added to the swim team's total meet score. Each diver performs six dives in regular season meets, and eleven in post-season meets.

The team will be returning five members from last year's team: Jodi Sayler, Julie Sayler, Alexis Faulkner, Karen Betzelberger, and Ceil Sinovic.

Swimmers Go for State, Record-breaking season

Going for their sixth straight State championship, the girls' swim team looks forward to another outstanding, hopefully record-breaking year said Carolyn Howard, head coach.

In past years, the Lancer swim team has attained a very respectable reputation, and for good reason. East holds eight State records (two were set last year by junior Marjorie Spencer), eight Sunflower league records, and all SM East pool records (set during past meets at East).

Along with six State titles, the girls have taken five consecutive league titles and in the past five years, they have lost only one dual meet in regular season competition.

The team will open the season at home with a SM East Invitational. As a whole, the year will be a 'traveling season' for the team said Howard. Eleven of the 16 meets the team will have are away meets; only five will be held at East. The season will end with State to be held at KU.

Looking to the season, coach Howard said the team has added more depth to the already strong team. Many of the new members are sophomores.

Mary Burger, senior and Nancy Lycan, junior will co-captain this year's sixty-five-member team. Twenty lettermen are expected to year's sixty-five member team. Twenty lettermen are expected to return this season.

Baseball Aims High

Once again the boys' baseball team anticipated another outstanding season.

After finishing 3rd in state last year, sixth year coach, Rusty Newman, says he expects the team to do just as well.

Returning lettermen are seniors David Collins, Brad Holter, Jamie Hunter, Paul Shaver, and Brett Smith.

"This year's team should be good due to a combination of youth (juniors and sophomores) and the experience of returning players," stated Newman.

Season Looks Bright

The outlook for SM East's 1982 girls' softball season was "very bright, very hopeful," stated Dave Fleming, softball coach. "because of the bulk of returning lettermen."

One advantage for the team was they did not lose many seniors last year. A new invitational tournament was started this year at Spring Hill, Ks. During this tournament, the team got the opportunity to play teams which otherwise they wouldn't.

"The girls should improve their league standing," stated John Haraughty, one of the track coaches. Other tournaments included Arkansas Relays (the first meet of the season), South Relays, and Emporia Relays. Bill Boley coordinated girls' track and coached the sprinters. The team practiced every day after school and Saturday mornings.

Good performances from returning members—Suzanne Philippi, sprinter; Sandy White, long jumper; and a strong distance team was the outlook for the 1982 season.

Berg Gives Tennis A Good Name

The boys' tennis team, under the direction of Phil Berg, has carried with it an extremely prestigious record. The boys have never lost District, they have won 123 consecutive matches, they have won league 15 out of 17 times, and they have an overall duel record of 212 and 3.

This has all taken place over the past 17 years which Berg has been head coach. Berg is assisted by Larry Tice who coaches the JV team.

Returning lettermen included: seniors Matt Mitchell, captain; David Wetzler, Jeff House, Kenny Christian, Scott Dalgleish, and John Richards; and junior Harry Spilker. Berg hoped to have 8 to 10 good sophomores. Dana Paul was the team manager.

Golfers Continue East Tradition

After an outstanding '81 season, the Lancer boys' golf team looked toward this year with great optimism.

Returning such strong players as seniors Eric Englund and Doug Jewett and junior Mike Smith, the golfers are assured of being one of the better teams in the state.

According to coach Norris Stauffer, the team had a "good chance" of receiving the state title. Their toughest competition is expected to come from SM South and Hutchinson (the site of the state tournament).

Stauffer also said that the addition of several sophomores will greatly deepen the team's talents and give East many years of great golf to come.

Administration Attempts To Correlate Functions

"SM East. Be a part of it," was the theme of this year's administration. The administrators tried to emphasize this theme as they organized the needs of the school during the entire year.

Dr. James Sandfort, principal, had responsibilities as the head coordinator of all the school's functions. He was in charge of all faculty members and the student body. His job also included relations with other area schools.

Dr. Sheila Dahling, associate principal, was in charge of student affairs. She worked with clubs and students, as well as paper work. Dahling also helped formulate the attendance procedure.

Dr. Jerry Abbot, associate principal, made decisions about curriculum and courses offered. He dealt mainly with faculty members.

Dr. Art Newcomer, associate principal, was the director of athletics. He negotiated schedules and budgets for all of the teams. In addition, Newcomer was an officer for the National Association of Athletic Directors.

Working together, the four administrators were a unifying force for the school.

District Steered by Superintendents

Arzell Ball, Shawnee Mission District Superintendent, guided all five area high schools through a successful school year.

Dr. James Foster, East area superintendent aided Ball with his duties.

Both men made important decisions pertinent to SM East. The Shawnee Mission School Board was the governing body in the district.

Ball's main objective was to try to unify all of the schools into one functioning unit.

Foster was in charge of our budget and activities. He visited East almost every week throughout the year in order to keep in touch and remain aware of the school's needs.

Because of the combined efforts of the School Board, Foster, and Ball, district 512 was regarded by educators across the country as one of the most well rounded. Academics extracurricular activities, and personal growth were stressed.

Counselors Serve as a Link

"This year has gone so quickly," stated Jackie Johnson, counselor. "We have been so busy all year, and now it's time for sophomore enrollment again."

The counselors kept very busy this year with college exploration and recommendations for the seniors. They offer group and individual counselling and assistance. The counselors' main objective is to serve as a link between students, faculty, and parents. They also support some extracurricular activities. Ann Shenewerk promotes an interest in occupations and post-high school future.

Office Staff Keeps Steady Business Flow

The staff in the office serves students, faculty, and administrators by handling paper work and other important materials. Without them, the school's business would not proceed as it does.

Linda Krebs, receptionist, takes all incoming calls and relays all messages. She is also in charge of the intercom system. Those who know her lovingly call her "Mom."

Joni Kimsey and Jean Ericson, administrative secretaries, served as a link between faculty, students, and administrators. They were responsible for all correspondence and appointments for the principals. Ericson was also in charge of typing the morning announcements.

Floy Barnes, bookkeeper, handled all money going in or out of the school. She kept ledgers of accounts for all clubs, teams, activities, and departments.

Teri Flanagan, counselor's secretary, was responsible for sending college transcripts, recommendations, and appointments for all counselors.

Jean Woolworth, computer clerk, was in charge of data processing. She handled transfers and other inquiries about the composition of various classes.

Mary Kay Hayes was responsible for permanent records and transcripts. She took care of all official documents sent out by the school.

Small Roles Significant

Nurse: Mary Dorn

The people of the attendance center, the school nurse, and the parking lot patrol officer are a small but very important part of everyday school life. Without these people, many important school services would not be possible.

For the seventeenth consecutive year, Mary Dorn has served the SM East school community. Administering first aid and occasional emotional support to students were among her duties. Also among her duties were administering eye and hearing tests to students. When asked her feelings about her job, Dorn replied, "I wouldn't know what to do with any other age group of children. I love it!"

Christopher "Barney" Pappenfort assumed his regular duties as SM East's security officer. Among these duties were traffic and parking lot patrol, taking reports on vandalism, and taking security precautions against minor theft. When asked to comment on his nickname, Barney, Pappenfort replied, "I really don't mind it; but children will be children."

With the direction of Shirley Frame and Lefa Maddock, the attendance center ran as smoothly as ever. Daily responsibilities included taking notes, recording absences, typing up a daily unexcused list, giving passes to leave school, and making calls to parents.

The new attendance policy, written by Dr. Sheila Dahling, made it disadvantageous for students to skip classes. Also, students were allowed only two days instead of the former five days to excuse their absence with a note from home.

P.T.A. Involvement Grows

"This year we've had excellent attendance at all the P.T.A. functions," said Zelda Crum, P.T.A. President. "There has been excellent involvement and increasing membership throughout the year." The total membership this year was over 1,400.

One of the P.T.A.'s most successful projects was the college clinic in October. "We had as many college representatives as we have ever had. It was very well attended by both students and parents."

The officers for the 1981-1982 school year were: Zelda Crum, President; Audry Langworthy, 1st Vice-President, Elaine Dalgleish, 2nd Vice-President; Sue Mick, Recording Secretary; Barbara Brown, Corresponding Secretary; and Mary Kay Horner, Treasurer. Workers Were an Asset

Both the cafeteria staff and custodians have been busy this year keeping the school running well. The cafeteria workers consist of 14 women who work hard to keep both East and 3 grade schools well-fed. This year homemade desserts have been added, but some foods have been ommitted due to the budget. Lucille Henderson is Manager and Gwen Lowle is Asst. Manager for the cafeteria. "We really enjoy kids," Henderson commented.

The 14 custodians maintain East during both winter and summer. They not only keep the building clean, but also they mark the football field. The cafeteria workers and custodians were a great asset to East.

"We tried to encourage use of the library by providing a comfortable, studious atmosphere," stated Jennifer Patty, committee member.

The library contained three collections, a large variety of periodicals and newspapers, plus over twenty thousand books.

Literary Skills Improved

Journalism and reading has improved many students writing and reading skills.

The purpose of journalism is "to create an awareness and understanding of a newspaper," stated Robert Dillon, journalism teacher. Dillon was named as one of the top five journalism teachers in the nation.

A writing contest was held to determine which senior majoring in journalism would receive a scholarship. Karen Schmidt won the 500 award. Gina Kellogg was 1st runner up, and Libby Armatas earned 2nd runner up.

Dillon teaches Journalism 1 and 2. Journalism 2 involves writing for the SM East paper, "The Harbinger."

Students realized their potential in reading through the help of Susan Oestreicher. The students worked on speed, comprehension, and vocabulary. "This year most kids are interested in reading about Vietnam," stated Oestreicher.

The reading classroom contains over 1,000 books and these books were also available to students not enrolled in a reading class. Many of the books we acquired through donations.

English Teachers Stress Well-rounded Background

The English classes at East provided interesting material that met the district requirements. Grammar, composition, and literature analysis were some of the main topics of study.

At the sophomore level, studies were geared to writing themes and a review of American Literature. The junior classes' main concern was the study of British Literature, while the seniors studied Shakespeare, a "Thoughts and Statement" unit, and the infamous 30 Days to a More Powerful Vocabulary.

An honors program was provided for all three grade levels as well as a new program, for seniors, entitled Advance Placement English. To be selected for this program a student had to have an application, a recommendation from his or her junior English teacher, an interview, and good test scores.

Advance Placement English was initiated to better meet the need of the students population.

Through the interesting material studied, students were provided with a well-rounded English background.

Interest Found In Health Field

The health careers program had its largest enrollment this year. Because of the increased demand for this course, Trish Kocialski, instructor, expanded to two sections of Health Careers 2.

Health Careers 1, a semester class, introduces students to basic concepts of all health fields. Students also learn terms of anatomy and Physiology.

Health Careers 2, a more exploratory course, gave students a chance to have first hand experience in the medical fields. Students were assigned to "field sites" where they observed and took part in the work of professionals in health related jobs.

The health careers classes offered students who had interest in possible medical professions to find out more about their options in the field.

"The career center does not give the students career choices but helps them learn more about themselves so they can make their own decisions," stated Ann Schenewerk, college counselor. Ways of achieving this included a mini course which was expected for all sophomores and optional for juniors and seniors. This course showed the students how to use the career equipment.

The shadowing program is another activity sponsored by the career center. This program showed students first hand what it was like in the real business world by letting students be an aprentice for a day.

Skills Stressed

The business department was designed to provide opportunities for students seeking careers in business, as well as to offer courses stressing basic skills.

A variety of classes, including office education, marketing and retailing, typing, notetaking, business law, shorthand, bookkeeping, and accounting helped students prepare themselves for the business-minded world.

Consortium and on-the-job training also gave students the chance to earn credit for their employment.

Discipline and responsibility in a work situation were also stressed.

"The kids here are very excellereted," commented Chris Rzepczyk, the new French 1 and 3 teacher. "East is one of the finest places to teach, as far as education is concerned." Rzepczyk replaced Mim Lutz this year.

Said Nora Pinkston, head of the foreign language department, "We have a very strong language department. Students who have graduated scored very well on advanced placement tests." Students who complete the upper levels of a language usually go on to quiz out of foreign language requirements on the college level.

"We used to stress the literary aspects of a language, but now the emphasis is placed on conversation and composition. For the most part, East graduates are very well prepared for both university classes and futures in foreign languages."

Students anxiously await Senora Dunn's next instructions.

The social science department offered classes from anthropology and sociology to American history and economics.

Through the social science department, many added activities were also offered. In October, a model legislature took place in Topeka, Kansas which the YMCA sponsored.

Another activity was Issues '82. Sam Brewster described the program as a "simulation of the United Nations in action." The model U.N. lasted for two days at Johnson County Community College.

Students were also able to submit Social Science papers to the Research and Development Forum to gain recognition.

Creative Talents Given Chance To Be Expressed

The aim of the Performing Arts department was to evoke the creative talents of students in the areas of speech, stagecraft, debate, forensics, and stage performance.

The department sponsored two plays, "Picnic" and "All My Sons." Max Brown, Bryce York, and Larry Brown encouraged their students to get involved in these productions, either by acting or joining a back-stage crew. M. Brown also directed the musical, "The Sound of Music."

Students taking courses in the Performing Arts department were eligible to earn Thespian points for almost all of their efforts. After accumulating a total of ten points, students could be initiated into Thespian troupe 1806, the Performing Arts honorary organization.

Debate and Forensics teams competed in tournaments in Kansas and Missouri. The debate team also sponsored its own tournament in November.

Student Interest Expressed in Math

Math enrollment was again one of the highest in the district. The percentage of students enrolled in math courses was approximately 90 per cent. This high participation in math may be due to the students desire to fulfill graduation requirement credits or to further their mathematical abilities for a future career.

"Math gives students a good background no matter what career goals they are planning to follow," stated Phil Berg, math department chairman.

Most students, howver, take math to prepare for college-level courses. Berg recommends that students plan on taking math throughout high school. "You'd be surprised how many former students tell me that they wished they had taken more math while in high school."

Artists Shine

Performances led by Ken Tebow, Dan Zollars, and Al Hanna entertained the East community.

Tebow conducted 55 orchestra members who played both classical and popular music. The most important festival of the year was State. Orchestra members had the opportunity to try out for pit orchestra for "The Sound of Music."

All Choirs (Chambers Singers, Concert Choir, Girls Choir) were led by Zollars. The lack of boy singers resulted in no Sophomore Choir. Vespers and the Masterworks Concert were the highlights of the season.

The bands led by Hanna performed often. The marching band performed with the drill team at football games. The marching band earned a 1 division rating at Wichita. The Symphonic Band is made up of mostly seniors and juniors. The majority of the sophomores are involved in the Concerts' Tryouts were held for the Blue Knights and Jazz ensemble. Appreciation Stressed

"Our main goal is to build up the department's enrollment. Being totally elective courses does hurt the survival of the department," commented Charles Crawford, head of the art department.

Once again this year, the art department set out to offer students classes in which they could prepare for future careers or develop an enjoyable hobby for life. "You'd be surprised how many adults wished they had taken some sort of an art class in high school. Something that they could do now as a hobby to help them relax," said Crawford.

Although few go on to major in art, many students planning to enter such fields as dentistry, engineering, and journalism find art classes very beneficial.

"The biggest thing we are trying to offer students is the opportunity to develop an appreciation for art whether it be their own or someone elses," stated Crawford.

Throughout the year, students had the opportunity to enter their art creations in several art fairs. Among these included the Shawnee Mission East Art Fair, the Shawnee Mission District Art Fair, and the Prairie Village Art Fair where first prize is a $200 watch courtesy of Roth's Jewelers. An annual art sale is held at Corinth Elementary School as well. All of these events took place in the Spring.

Quality Is Staff Goal

"Our main objective is to offer a quality science program to students," stated science department head, LeRoy Anderson.

Science was once again a popular course among students at East. Whether preparing for a future career dealing with science or simply trying to fill the graduation requirement of one lab science course, enrollment remained at a fairly high level.

Commenting on the importance of science, Anderson said, "With the constant changing of technology and science, science is becoming very important to everyone. It helps people to understand the developments in these areas."

Changes in the staff's faculty included the addition of Stan Moore. Moore replaced Ron Fox who left the staff last year. When asked how he liked East, Moore replied, "I think East is really neat. The students are a lot of fun!"

Choices Offered

Practical skills and life preparatory classes are what the home economics department offered this year.

Students enjoyed the classes because they provided skills used in later life.

Some of the classes offered were clothing, creative cookery, interior design, and family relations. A special course, exploring childhood, was offered for its third year. This program involved a two-hour time slot in which the students spent time working with children in preschools. This was an excellent career class for those wishing to work with children.

Drivers Taught Skills Used Throughout Life

"Our instructors try to teach young people to drive safely," said John Oman, Driver's Education department chairman. "We want to keep kids from causing accidents as well as being involved in them," he stressed.

In the classroom, students are taught defensive driving skills. At least 85% of SM East's student population takes driver's education before they graduate.

On the road, students learn the basics of driving. The department has three cars provided by sponsoring dealers. The instructor has a brake on his side of the car, should the student lose control.

"Responsible driving is a skill we can teach our students. They can use it all their lives," said Oman.

Industrial Arts Classes Give Practical Training

"Every student should take a course in the Industrial Arts department," stated Tom LeBar, department chairman. "Even if they think it is dirty to work with their hands, everybody learns something in our classes."

The Industrial Arts department offers courses in metal, wood, auto tech, general drafting, mechanical drafting, and architectural drafting.

Many students have opportunities for jobs because of their experience with cars or other machines. "Our classes are a sort of pre-vocational or avocational training," commented LeBar.

"Some math and science knowledge is required, but we use more of a Laboratory atmosphere to teach," LeBar added.

Fitness Stressed

"The student body spends six hours a day developing their minds but only one hour developing the body to carry the mind," stated Coach Howard. This was one of the reasons physical fitness is important in a school atmosphere. It also serves as an outlet for the tensions and pressures of the academic part of the curriculum.

Though only one year of gym is recquired, East offered many electives as well, so each student has a chance to release anxieties while using his body to the fullest potential.

"If you want to, it is really easy to get involved at East," said sophomore Lori Spurney, "but if you don't, that's no problem either."

When Spurney arrived at East, she knew only the people from her own junior high.

"When we came to high school, everyone just split up and went their own way. I have a whole new bunch of friends now. My new group gives me a different perspective and makes me feel included," she stated.

Her transition to high school was not a rough one.

"The only thing that really makes a difference are the attitudes of the teachers. They are much more relaxed and they treat students as if they were adults," Spurney said.

At East, Spurney has been actively involved in many activities. She was on the gymnastics team, on an intramural basketball team, in the cast of "The Sound of Music," in Young Life, a boys' basketball statistician, on the girls' diving team, and a member of pep club.

"Sports are different here. In junior high, I was under a lot of pressure, but I'm not any more. The sports are so different, so flexible here," she said.

"There are so many people at East. That makes it fun—I like to go to school and see everyone," she commented.

"Changing from junior high doesn't make too much difference. Once you get going, it is just routine," said Adam Anderson, sophomore. "So far, I like East a lot."

In his first year at East, Anderson played on the j.v. soccer and sophomore basketball teams.

"Soccer doesn't get much recognition, but we have a blast", Anderson commented. He has a job with the K.C. Comets, a professional soccer team, "doing all the things that the trainers don't want to do."

Anderson was selected to play on a Kansas soccer team during the past summer. They played against teams from 15 other states.

Then, he was asked to go to a national training camp for outstanding soccer players. "The top pros came to coach us and give us tips on the game," stated Anderson.

Before he went to camp, however, he almost lost his eyesight in a fishing accident. "I was worried that I wouldn't be able to play soccer again," he said, "but I came out of surgery and I was okay. Still, the doctor made me wear a funny looking pair of glasses on the field," Anderson added.

"Soccer is what I really want to do with my life," he concluded, "It is really important to me."

Junior Finds New Hang-ou

For most people, Friday and Saturday nights consist of movies parties, but lately students have begun to gravitate towards Westpo The Rocky Horror Picture Show has been the main attraction, b some students like Andrea Wurster believe that "Westport is the be place in Kansas City to observe a wide variety of personalities Wurster was introduced to Westport by some close friends and sin then has made new friends. Street musicians often play their guita and dulcimers in the summer. Asked about her thoughts on the que tionable reputation of Westport, Wurster replied, "Westport's one the most wholesome places I've been. I can even see it become a f cal point for high school students."

Gymnast Pursues Talent; Hopes for Scholarship

Last year saw the end to the boys' gymnastic team at SM East. Many young and aspiring gymnasts were sorry to see the program end. Among these was junior Eric Hockersmith.

Hockersmith still pursues his gymnastic talent despite the discontinuation of the program. He works out five days a week, three hours a day and has been involved in gymnastics since the age of nine. "Mom's the one who got me started in it. I remember her telling me that I had to do something—join a club or get involved in a sport. She took me to a gymnastic class and I thought it looked like fun," he stated.

Hockersmith is a member of the McCracken School of Gymnastics in Olathe. The school competes as a team in various USGF meets throughout the state and country. Hockersmith feels his best events are the rings and floor ex., but he likes all events equally. He has also done very well in some of the team's past meets. In 1979, he placed second in his age group at state and went to the USGF Regionals meet.

In high school competition, Hockersmith has also done exceptionally well. In his sophomore year, he finished first in Regionals and seventh in State.

As for continuing his career in gymnastics, Hockersmith hopes to get a college scholarship and is aiming for a top ten slot among the NCAA's top gymnastic participants.

"I don't find the time. I am trying to get through and do the best I can," Richard Whitehead, senior, commented, concerning the activities he is involved in. He is senior class treasurer, assistant news editor of the Harbinger, line guard in football, construction crew member of the musical, Prairie Village Television announcer, and member of the forensic squad.

Asked how he could manage his time, Whitehead said, "I only do the activities in which I am really interested." For others who want to get involved, he said, "It depends on what you can do. You need to know your limit." Whitehead set his own limit at the time when grades start to drop seriously.

Asked why he had so many interests, Whitehead replied, I consider myself an extrovert. I like to get to know people. I guess I have a curiosity about them to find out what people are like."

"One important point to remember," Whitehead singles out, "is not to tie yourself down to one group of people. Don't get into an activity and get totally involved in it."

He not only likes what he does, but Whitehead also finds it very important. "Being involved in activities gives me not only book knowledge but also a solid education. You learn a lot of things about people." He bases his thinking on the idea that in order to succeed in life, one needs a well-rounded education.

Senior Forms Own Art Guild

"I have always liked art as a little kid but I really started Ce ramics in junior high," stated Julie Robinson, senior. Robinson wa involved in the Renaissance Festival as a potter. To be an employ ee of the festival, she was required to send in slides of her work to pay an entrance fee, and to set up her own booth. Robinson' partner and she formed the Midwest Potter Guild. "The guild wa formed," stated Robinson, "to teach other techniques and to give each other insights and advice on ceramics." The guild meets once a month.

This year Robinson will work with the friends of Art and artists from the K.C. Art Institute. "It will be an extensive program. We will be working on designs for the showcases around the school We will also be designing murals for the school, Robinson stated.

Last year, Robinson also worked with the friends of Art and the sculptors from the Institute. She helped in the setting up of dis plays.

Outside of school, Robinson works on pottery and ceramics fo commission. Her clients consist of students, teachers, and friends She said of her work, "Most people don't develop a style unti they are older. Right now, I am learning techniques and imitating the styles of others. Later, "I will acquire my own style."

make the quick change,

we don't stall around.

STEPHANIE, LISA, CAMELLA, CAROLYN

To: Kelley, Linda, Jim, Mac, Adrienne, Nancy, Patrice, Sharon, & Laura, & everyone else:

This is a belated Christmas gift for you all. I'm writing this to let everyone know how fantastic all my friends are. When we are just remember all the fun year, just remember all the fun times we had together; each one of you is very special to me and I'll never forget how apart we are, I'll miss you all very much. My wish for you is to thank you for making my life at East happier. If luck, happiness, & love half the joy and happiness of your should be mine for ever. One last thing, I would like to wish you all: Lots of success and happiness in the year to come, plus a saying:

"May beautiful flowers be abundant in your gardens and may the sun never set on your world"

With much gratitude & love, Friends for always,

Kelley

Every time I'm with you, I feel my heart has wings.
I know at times I'll hurt you, say things I don't mean.
But remember you're a special person, one like I've never seen.
Friend, there will always be a place for you, deep down in my heart.
I know someday it will happen, but I wish we'd never part.
No matter where we go or what we do - I hope you always remember I'll always love you.

Because this appears as the final copy in the closing of a yearbook capturing the memories shared and cherished by students, faculty, and parents alike, it seems fitting to sum up the amount of time and energy exerted in creating and producing the 1982 Hauberk. This year's book combined the successful techniques found in past books with new concepts and designs.

The "news" section was a new idea of formulated to allow coverage consisting not only of high school activities, but also the outside events affecting the student body. The Hauberk again added the student index which was deleted from last year's book. This section was possible due to the work of Laura Grether, assistant editor, who also served as a liaison between the staff and the company and as a member of every staff. The accomplishments of the following individuals should be acknowledged because of their important contributions to the Hauberk. Melissa Brown, production assistant, gave new meaning to the recently formed position; Jack Frost, art editor, demonstrated his creative talents in the cover and throughout the book; Scott Dalgleish, photography editor and his staff created the clear photographs and diverse coverage between redevelopments of mysteriously misplaced or lost pictures; Kathy Holder, design editor, organized and created the continuity of layouts throughout the book; Kelley Kennedy, production editor, performed her job through hectic deadlines; Jodi Sayler, business editor, managed the financial workings of the book; and Mary Bechthold, the literary editor, served well in this spontaneous position. Each and every member of the staffs deserve credit for the hours they spent chained to a typewriter, a layout, a piece of copy, or whatever odd job that came their way.

Throughout the year, Mr. Graham, the advisor, supported out efforts by advising us in our endeavors. I am grateful for the encouragement he so willingly gave us in producing the Hauberk.

Through the cooperation and enthusiasm of all members, I believe the position of editor was made meaningful.

Wally— It's been a great year, huh? I really didn't see much of you outside of school. That's too bad, we all had some pretty good times together. Being able to come over and talk to you in study hall made it a little more bearable. You're a really nice person and I'm glad we got to be friends. Give me a call or stop by this summer and we'll get together. Love always,

Monica

Remember: You guys still owe us one for the night out at S.M. Park!!
